STAGE 3 – ACTION
INTRODUCTION — Why is this important for students to learn? (hook, connection, relevance)
Understanding history/historical experience is relevant to help us understand how we arrived here—in our circumstances, in our time—and to help analyze how our choices might affect where we will end up. Understanding the African American experience from slavery to today is an important part of understanding American history. Jim Crow and the Great Migrations are two big themes in that history.
MAIN ACTIVITIES Each activity listed here is described in detail in the Lesson Narrative Guide, with times and materials.
PRE-ASSESSMENT: Geography/Events pre-assessment Check to see what students know about “North” and “South” in particular. Matching Images to Events on a Timeline Images help students to associate events and concepts (slavery, emancipation) with descriptions. Teachers can add additional images to the ones supplied. Key Dates Timeline Helps to put Jim Crow and the Great Migrations in a larger context. Shows the sequence from slavery to civil rights while highlighting a few key events. Teachers may want to add other events they feel are important to this timeline. Geography of Jim Crow and the Great Migrations Students create a map that overlays Jim Crow on the Confederate States of America. They add the paths of the Great Migration to this map. CLOSING: Students complete a section of their Character Template that will be used for their final project. They will need to use that information, and other information covered in this lesson to successfully complete their final project.	Materials <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Pre-Assessment Map 2. Vocabulary for Jim Crow and the Great Migrations 3. Timeline Images 4. Student Timeline and Student Images 5. Glue or Tape 6. Key Dates Timeline 7. Map of US with appropriate overlays or arrows 8. Jim Crow Law Organizer 9. Colored pencils 10. Websites (see narrative guide)
Notes to Teachers:
Scaffolding: Students will be using information from reference maps, creating their own maps, and reading and creating timelines. Several of the activities are paired or group activities. It is expected that there needs to be background teaching about The Triangle Slave Trade, the difference between Federal and State Law, Reconstruction and so on. This teaching doesn’t have to be extremely detailed for students to get the key understandings from the lesson. But the level of scaffolding will vary with how granular the teacher wants to get with any of these topics.

After teaching this lesson, add a Reflection on what to remember when teaching it again, including what adaptations you would make.
